Dear Joanna,

Many thanks for your email. I have updated your CPD points on your profile. You will not need to pay the fine.

Regards,

Hi Shakila,

I've just returned from maternity leave as of today (02/10/2015) having been off since 25/09/2014.

Are you able to add the appropriate CPD points to my area?

I've had an email to say my AVS is lapsed due to insufficient CPD, sorry I've only been able to reply to your email today and not before 30th september. I assume I won't need to pay the £100 fine?!

Many thanks,
Joanna Fuller

Hi Joanna,

Due to the website problems last year, many members lost their CPD activities entered online during the last membership year (Sept 2013- Aug 14). Looking at your record, it says that you have no CPD activities since June 2013. It is likely that any activities you entered into your area has been deleted when our online system crashed last year. Can you please re-enter and backdate your CPD from last year?

Maternity leave is awarded as 10CPD points per year (on pro-rata basis if less than a year). If you contact me once you decide return to work, I can enter these points on to your area for you.

I hope this helps - please let me know if you have any further queries.

Subject: CPD while on maternity leave

Hi,

I am due to start maternity leave on 25/09/2014 and need to know how the CPD system works while I'm off.

I'm abit concerned/confused regarding my AVS status as I have just logged on to try and get some info on maternity leave, and it says my status is lapsed? Even though when I've checked in the previous couple of months it was all fine?
