Paper: Spring 2020 CPD questions

Personal Reflection:

The articles were really interesting. Having worked in pain for many years it is refreshing to know that researchers have noticed and studied this phenomena.

The numbers in the studies were small, but it resonates with anyone who has ever picked up a transducer! The analysis was appropriate to the sample size and conclusions clear and concise. These papers will enable our department to put strength into our argument for an extra member of staff being funded.
